COLUMBIA NATURAL LITHIA WATER (like the waters of "Saratoga" and many others of this country and nearly all the famous ones of the old world), is within the city limits, Discovered but a comparatively short time ago-the many hundreds and even thousands who've been restored to robust health through its use-evideuce its wonderful powers for good.

The analysis of the late Prof. E. T. Fristoe, and also Prof. Clifford Richardson, as well as Dr. V. A. Mooreproved conclusively the water to be

STRONGEST LITHIA WATER IN THE WORLD

Of a crystal-like purity, with a peculiarly pleasant taste, it differs from any other water within a hundred miles of Washington. We quote a few of the cures it has wrought of people located right here in Washington-but have many more on file-which we will gladly show to callers:

Mr. L. W. Gifford, of the Freasury Department, for more than twenty years could not retain even a swallow of cold w ter on his stomach. He was antirely cured through Coumbia Lithia Water.

Mr. W. P. Anderson, 182 9th 82, for years suffered from the extra cure form of Kidney Froulde. Six weeks use of Columbia Water restored him to a state of the health remarkable in a man of 61 years of age,

Mr. Win G. Burns had regular attacks of Rheumatism all his life until he Mrs. A. M. Knight's two daughters, affleted with nervous incicommenced taking this water. He is gestion, were re-stored through the Columbia Lethia from any symptoms of rheumatism.

Hundreds and hundreds more of similar testimony attest the virtues of COLUMBIA NATURAL LITHIA

SUNDAY'S SILVER AND GOLD TO TURN IT TO THE Political Talk in Lobbies and Grover's Picture an Eyesore at On Street Corners.

WATSON - SEWAL CONTEST

Chairman Butler Explains the Nature of the Advisory Committee-Maine Leaders Talking Through Their Hats-Gov. Evans to Win in South Carolina-Conditions in Kentucky.

Sunday is not altogether a dies non in politics. It would take probably twelve or thirteen commandments to stop the output of silver and gold crimination and rerimination up to election day in November The various headquarters were closed that the congregation of the faithful and everiasting was mostly on the street orners and in the lobbies of the hotels. Chairman Butler, of the People's party, was the only one of the magnates in town, he having located here permanently in his very handsome home on Q street north west. Senator Faulkner had gone to West Virginia to look after the repairs of the party there, and Chairman Stevens, of the National Silver party, is in Chicago. Chairman Babeuck was, of course, not at the place where the Republicans have been doing a rushing business for the past week.

Senator Butler was asked last night what was the stanificance of the recent announcement that he had been chosen in Chicago as a member of the advisory committee of Democratic party. He said that he had seen such an announcement in the dispatches, but he had not received, nor posibly was it intended that he should no ceive, a formal notification of his selection He believed that all there is in it was on the line of a suggestion made to him by Chairman Jones before the latter left here for Chicago, that he would be glad to have the advice and counsel of Teller, Dubois, self and some others.

AGREEABLE TO BUTLER

This suggestion was agreeable to Senator Butier, as would be any other looking to the success of the Democratic ticket, although Mr. Butler is working for the success of Bryan and Watson as the People's Senator Butler said in reply to a question, that his acting on such an adisory committee would not carry with it the idea that he belonged to any other organization than that of the People's party. There will be no consolidation of the Democratic party and his, as parties.

Chairman Butler's attention was cailed to the statement made from Maine that within a certain time Mr. Sewall's name would be withdrawn from the Democratic ticket and Watson's substituted. Mr. Butter said he had read the statement and understood that it purported to be on the authority of some information obtained from the People's party committees. felt sure that the People's party had not interfered with Mr. Sewall. He did not consider the People's party had any more right to suggest what should be done with Mr. Sewall than with Mr. Hobart. It thus appears that the dispatch from Maine, if it have any basis of truth, must have it on information given from the Democratic committee at Chicago and was possibly published inadvertently. The Democrats are not giving it out very largely for publication, but there is an impression at their headquarters that North Carolina, Louislana and Kentucky will bear a good deal of nursing even if they are not in the doubtful column. On Democrat said on Saturday night, and he was to a position to know the sentiments about headquarters, that if Carlisle would make one or two speeches in Kentucky. thereby throwing his great personal fol-lowing into the scale, it would be beyond a doubt turned against the Democratic hances of success, and they were even at oest, only chances. In Kentucky white Republicans are not afraid to be known as such and are making one of the biggest successes imaginable in the way of a canvass. The geld ticket with the personal following of Breckinri tg in his district and the Democracy. DANGER IN NORTH CAROLINA.

In North Carolina there is also a danger. ous situation, although it is not confessed by the managers of either the People's or Democratic party. Senator Butler said last night that there had been no fusion as yet and he did not think that the proposition to fuse had made any progress. Pending the proposition to fuse the Pe ple's party had gone right shead and had chosen electors in five or six of the Congressional districts. He believes that if the situation remains unchanged, the People's party will have a full set of electors, the Democrats a full set, and the Republicans a full set. Senator Butler has full faith in the People's party ticket, the Democrats think likewise, and so do the Republicans.

Under these conditions there is no disposition to yield on any of the sides. Senator Butler said that he was quite sure that the Republicans would not win. It is nevertheless true that there are combinations in some of the counties with Republicans which may change the result favor of that party.

Only the other day in the call of one of the Republican county chairmen he referred to the Democrats as the "com enemy of the Populists and the Republic ans."

In Louisiana, the big planters, with their large control of Republican colored voters, are seeking, and probably will have the assistance of the Populists, between whom and the Democrats there is an irreconcilable feud. This State is a close call for either side as viewed at present. The undercurrent of Democratic view on these Stafes partly explains the evident desire of Mr. Bryan to capture New York and the great zeal and time that have been expended in that State. Should North Carolina and Kentucky be lost, one State, uch as Indiana or Illinois, will not be sufficient to recoup the party from their loss, while if New York were carried, the loss of North Carolina and Kentucky, and even other Southern States could be discounted.

EVANS' DEFEAT.

The general talk among South Caroline politicians is on the fact that Gov. John Gary Evans of that State did not succeed in being nominated in the primary election last week as the successor of Senator Irby. There has been an impression that Gov. Evans was the candidate most acceptable to Senator Tillman, and some surprise was expressed that the opponent of Evans, Judge Earle, developed strength enough to make a second primary necessary to determine the nominee. The fact is, however, that Senator Tillman took no part in the con-test. Still it remains that Evans stood for the administration which was handed over to him by Tillman. The South Carolina politicians believe that in the race which takes place pext week all the minor elec-tions, trades, dickers, etc., being out of the way, Evans will sweep the field.

WHY SHOULD IT STAY

Are they going to turn the old man's picture to the wall?

On the north side of the office, on the first floor, at Democratic headquarters on Fifteenth street, hangs a rubicund painting of President Cleveland, who led the Democracy out of the wilderness in 1892. On the same wall is also an engraving of Vice President Stevenson, who assisted in the leading of the forces at that time out of the bullrushes. In the southeast angle of the room hange a picture of Candidate William Jennings Bryan, who is also engaged in the business of lending some of the people, if not all of them, out of the briars and thoros whether or not they are in the shape of a crown.

Nearly all the faithful who come in are what they call in common parlance "stuck" on the Bryan picture. There hasn't been a man in the office since it was opened up by Mr. Faulkner who has made even the semblance of a salaam to the beretofore man of destiny.

There was a rumor about headquarters Wednesday last that the rosy-tinted visage of the present President of the United States was to be taken down. There was possibly some reason for this rumor because it was understood that the Presi dent was fighting what the headquarters people consider the "Democratic party;" and there was logically as much reason for the display of the portrait of Maj. Tinplate McKinley, as there was for his nibs, of Ducks and Destiny.

AN "INSULT TO DEMOCRATS." A reporter for The Times called the attention of the clerks at headquarters to his report on Wednesday night. One of them said that the item could hardly be true, but, to be sure, he went upstairs and aske I for information from Chief Clerk Miller, Mr. Miller had not heard of it.

Last night there was a good deal more talk about it. At 9 o'clock the picture gallery was inhabited only by a reporter for The Times and two Virginia Demorais, who are clerks in the office of the Southern Railway. A gentleman came in hurriedly and asked to see Senator Faulk ner. The janitor told him at the gate that Mr. Faulkner had departed for West Vir glaia, and that, therefore, he cou'd not see him. The visitor then walked into the gallery and asket suddenly:

"What is that fellow doing here?" It was a startling question, but he made t plain to the Virginia Democrats that he referred to the placid frontispiece of Mr. Cleveland.

"Well, sir," the visitor replied with considerable empressment, "it is an Insult to have that picture hung here. It is as insult to every Democrat." The Virginia Democrat explained that a picture was a very harmless piece of decorative furnishing, but the strauger was not convinced. Going out, he said that as it was a standing jusuit to people who came to the office "the picture ought to be flung into the Potomac, and that he would fling it into the river if he had his way with it." He then went out. He left no card. It is a hule remarkable that the runso which was in circulation on Wednesday night should take material form last night From what was stated at headquarters however, no one will be allowed to do vic lence to the man who made such a fine impression on Li Hung Chang, and will

bably be fishing quietly tomorrow off Buzzard's Bay. BRYAN IN NEW YORK AGAIN. There was a story last night at Democratic riers which wille the people of New York, who want to hear Mr. Bryan again at Madison Square

In conversation between one of the clerks and Judge Staples it was brought out that Mr. Bryan is to go again to New York if the national committee so decide. The reasons urged are that the speech or acceptance, having been read, and was undoubtedly a failure, and especially in the respect that numbers of people, after the neeting, had come to the conclusion that Mr. Bryan was not the man or orator they had been told he was.

Now it is suggested that he go back to New York city without manuscript and so give himself a chance to reclaim his lost

MISLED HIS DAUGHTER.

For This McCullough Tried to Kil Smith, But Failed.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 30.-Pat McCullough county jailer here, went to Marietta, Ga., this morning and tried to kill W. L. Smith, a salesman of a book company. Smith a a young married man who abandoned his family two years ago. Recently the seventeen-year-old daughter of the jailer became infatuated with Smith, and the lat ter's mother induced her to go to Merietta, where Smith had been for several days.

McCullough intercepted a letter sent by Smith to the girl, orging her to join him and bring along some cash which her father and grandmother had at their home. He then followed his daughter to the train this morning, and, preseen by her, took a seat in the smoking car.

Smith's mother and the girl were in the sleeper. McGollough carried a small hand-satchel in which he had three pistols. When the train reached Marietta the girl and the woman were met by Smith. McCullough took a pistol from the grip, valked up near Smith and fired three shots at him, none of them, however, taking effect. Then McCullough placed the pistol against Smith's breast and was in the act of firing when the girl and the woman seized him and threw him to the ground, the daughter falling on him-

Spectators intervened and saved Smith. All the parties were arrested. McCollough bond and brought his daughter back to the city. Smith and his mother were unable to give bond and were sent to jail. McCullough says that his only regret is jail here for refusing to support his family.

FOR THE JEWISH NEW YEAR

Preparations Being Made for the Coming Rosh Shannah.

Both the Orthodox and Reformed Hebrews Will Observe the Feast of the Seventh Month-It Begins With a Day of Pennance-Music to are preparing to faithfully observe the coming Jewish New Year, or, as it is called, Rosh Shamah, and the days following. The new year begins at sunset on the evening of Monday, September 7, and with the Orthodox Jews it continues until the Wednesday evening following at sunset. The day is observed as the Jews imve observed it for generations, but while the underlying principles are virtually the same, the form of service is somewhat changed to meet the denands and customs of the people of today. The Jewish New Year is a celebration of the "Blowing of the Trumpets," or an anniversary of the "Feast of the Seventh Month." It is a festival occasion with the Reformed Jews and in the synagogue there is a service of elaborate preparation. A SOLEMN OCCASION.

With the Orthodox Jews it is a solem occasion, and in their synagogue the serv ices are of a very solemn nature. The New Year or Rosh Shannah, is an occasion handed down from generation to genera-tion, and has been faithfully observed by all Jews since then. It is always ob-served in the seventh month of the calendar year, and becomes a great tubilee at the end of the forty-ninth year.

The New Year, although a festival in self is a feast day, but is not religiously observed by the modern Jews. egins the ten days of penitence which is ended by the observance of Yom Kippur, a fast day, which this year falls on Thursday the 17th, and is the Pay of Atonement this day beginning the same as the other days, the night before at sunset. Four days then intervene, and on the evening of the 21st, the eve of the Feast of the Tabernacle which falls on the 22d, there is a special service in the tabernacies, at which the service is like any other church service Then on the 30th of September comes the Feast of the Law, which ends the festival of e glibbiays, which always follow the Feast of the Tahernacle.

INTERESTING SERVICES.

The services in the synagogue on Eighth treet, Rabbi L. Stern, will be of especial interest to the people this year, for the preparations are to be more elaborate than usual and there is to be a feature in the iusic. Services will be preached at each service. The quartet at the synagogue s one of the best in the city and there will be a genuine desire to hear it.

The officers of the Washington Hebrey congregation are president, Henry King, Jr.; vice president, Marks Goffsmith; secretary, S. H. Meyer; treasurer, David Strauss; board of managers, B. Solomon Julius Sonheim and Phillip Peyser. In the synagogue at Sixth and C streets northeast, Rabbi Samuel, the services will be of a much quieter nature.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

Gallant Rescue of a Little Boy by Arthur L. Thompson. Excursionists who were at Bay Ridge esterday witnessed the gallant rescue by Washingtonian of a child who had faller nto the river. A number of little children were engaged in watching the crabbing lines thrown out by their parents from the pier, and just as the 12 o'clock boat from Baltimere steamed up one of the youngsters fell into the water. The point at which he tumbled in was about Wenty-five feet deep, and as the child could not swim he was in immediate danger of drowning. The parents stood by watching their child but unable to render any service. While the crowd stood inactive a man suddealy leaped from the pier and in an instant was by the child's side. Before the swimmer could reach the spot the boy had sunk. The man dived down and when he came up he had the boy in his grasp. A tout in the meantime put out from the shore and the rescuer and rescued were taken on board. The many hundreds of people cheered the rescuer as he walked up to the hotel in his ret garments. For a long time his name could not be learned, but finally some one in the crowd stated that he was Arthur L. Thompson of Mount Pleasent, and the gentleman finally acknowledged that this was his name.

Tokio, Japan, Aug. 12, via San Francisco. Aug. 30. - An extraordinary instance of the eadily excited anti-foreign inflammability of the tower orders in China has just oc curred at Foochow.

On the 19th of July some foreigners, ac companied by their servants, went for a short excursion from that city, and arriving at the Temple of the Goddess of Mercy in the squarbs, entered into conversation with the abbess as to the menning of some cotive bags suspended in the temple. The abbess explained that the bags contained the names of children who, on being attacked by small-pox, were brought to the temple and offered at the altar of the goddess, after which ceremony-supposed the bags containing their names being left

The children ran off in alarm and reported to their parents that foreigners had ome to seize and carry them off. A panie quickly ensued The alarm was given, and amid the of the fate they had so barely escaped. But the train had been fired. Rumors were quickly spread that the foreigners, then engaged in building at Ching Yang. wanted a number of children to bury at the oundations of the new houses, the ground being inconveniently soft, and were also about to steal all the named bags in the temples to be used as charms.

A general stampede of children and families took place, some flying from Foo-chow and others running to it for refuge. Some boats arriving at a place fifteen manned by persons wearing light fackets and Japanese-made straw hats-
